

CHEMOFx[®]

A product of Precision Therapeutics, Inc.

HER CANCER IS BEING TREATED WITH 10 DIFFERENT
CHEMOTHERAPIES

but she isn't.

DON'T MISS OUT ON A SINGLE THING

like the best care possible.

Now your cancer can undergo chemotherapy before you do.

Your physician is using every advantage available to make sure you get the best care and the best treatment possible. That's exactly why your physician is having your cancer cells tested by ChemoFx®.

Developed to give you an edge in the fight against cancer, the ChemoFx® Drug Response Marker is a laboratory test that determines how your particular cancer cells respond to different chemotherapies. You can take comfort in the fact that treating your cancer cells in the lab—before they're treated in your body—will help guide your doctor in selecting the most effective chemotherapy for you.

Most patients don't have to undergo any additional procedures for this test.

- 1 A portion of your cancer cells or associated fluid is removed during your surgery or biopsy and sent to our lab.
- 2 Your cancer cells are grown in our lab and treated with a number of chemotherapies selected by your physician.*
- 3 A report is sent to your physician that details how your cancer cells responded to each type of chemotherapy.
- 4 Your doctor can use the report to help determine the optimal treatment regimen for you.

* Although unlikely, in 8–10% of cases, testing cannot be completed.

We bill insurance companies and Medicare.

We will do everything in our power to collect payment from your insurance company, so you can focus on your treatment—not your finances. ChemoFx® has been reimbursed by most major insurance companies and currently receives payment from Medicare for gynecologic cancers. However, if you are ultimately denied coverage, we encourage you to apply for discounts under our Compassionate Care Program. Call us toll-free at 1-888-522-7087 for more information.

All you have to do.

If you have a commercial health insurance plan, please complete the release form that you receive in the mail. This form allows us to accept the assignment from your commercial health plan and gives us permission to fight for reimbursement on your behalf—so you don't have to. You'll be responsible for applicable co-payments, deductibles and co-insurance as required by your policy.

Test your cancer, not your nerves.

We believe every cancer patient deserves the best treatment possible. And we've dedicated our lives to making it happen. That's why we've developed ChemoFx®—to give you a clear and powerful advantage in your fight against cancer.

CHEMOFX®

A product of Precision Therapeutics, Inc.

Need more guidance?

Find it at www.chemofx.com,
or call 1-800-547-6165.

©2008 Precision Therapeutics, Inc. All Rights Reserved.

PRECFX-09/08-03

